Organized Labor Fights New England Granite Quarry Owners' Lockout.

Complete Paralysis of the Stone Industry Results.

Building Trades Take Up the New York Pavers' Battle.

Work Stopped on Many Structures in All the Large Cities.

Despatches received this morning from all the points involved state that the New England Granite Manufacturers' Association, comprising the owners and operators of, fitty-two quarries in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusets, Rhode Island and Connecticut, has carried out its threat to lock out to-day all the paving-block cutters and quarrymen employed by its members because of the strikes inaugurated by the pavers unions in New York and other cities. The men were locked out this morning.
